AUTO INSURANCE

- Compare quotes for a policy that will cover both of you and your cars
- When switching plans, ensure there is no lapse in coverage for either you or your spouse

HOME / CONDO / RENTERS

- If you have an existing policy, name your spouse on your coverage
- Take an updated home inventory of both of your belongings, including any new wedding gifts
- Adjust your policy limits as necessary to cover your belongings
- Download the First-Time Home Buyers Guide to Home Insurance if you're house hunting

VALUABLES

- Get any items of value you received for your wedding appraised
- Talk with an insurance agent to get coverage for your valuables added onto your policy, like an engagement ring

UMBRELLA INSURANCE

- Talk with an insurance agent about adding additional liability coverage through an umbrella policy now that your assets are joined

HEALTH INSURANCE

- If needed, shop around for plans since marriage is a qualifying event
- Evaluate any employer-sponsored plans for costs and coverage
- Add spouse to best plan

LIFE INSURANCE

- Consider taking out policies
- Update beneficiaries on existing policies

#INSURATIP

As you combine your lives, you are also combining your assets. Low limits may no longer provide proper protection, so be sure to check on the limits you carry on your existing coverage.
